The course aims to:

1. Define puberty as a stage in adolescence.
2. Present the importance of early intervention.
3. Discuss myths about sex offenders.
4. Examine factors influencing sex offenders.
5. Introduce the study of sex offenders' mentalities.
6. Introduce the study of sex offenders' behavioral patterns.
7. Introduce the study of sex offenders' legal issues.
8. Examine the nature of their hormonal changes.
9. Examine the nature of their hormonal changes.
10. Conduct a survey of sex offenders' mental states.
11. Present the importance of pubertal development.
12. Present the importance of pubertal development.
13. Examine the nature of sex offenders' mental states.
14. Examine the nature of sex offenders' mental states.
15. Conduct a survey of sex offenders' mental states.
16. Summarize the study on sex offenders' mental states.
17. Summarize the study on sex offenders' mental states.
18. Present the importance of pubertal development.
19. Present the importance of pubertal development.
20. Examine the nature of sex offenders' mental states.
21. Examine the nature of sex offenders' mental states.

Noteworthy:

