2 If you are not interested in social services, you must submit a social services fees waiver request via In-Bar (see explanation on page 6).

Students not registered for courses and who are only enrolled for exams and/or assignment submission are not charged supplemental fees (this waiver does not apply for those enrolled for submission of thesis-equivalent work, thesis or dissertation).

Please note:

  Tuition for foreign students is 25% above the base tuition that applies for that year.
- Israeli students with full or partial tuition sponsorship:
  Israeli students with full or partial institutional, government, public or other sponsorship for their tuition as part of employment conditions or employer-employee wage agreements or otherwise, shall pay tuition at a rate of 25% above the base tuition for that year.

- Diplomas are awarded only upon completion of academic requirements and provided that tuition and supplemental fees have been paid in full.
- Students will not be awarded two different degrees in the same diploma period unless the additional one is a teaching certificate.
- Tuition for students enrolled in more than a single degree program in the same academic year is the sum of the tuition for each of the degrees taken separately.

This advance payment covers all supplemental fees + tuition.
The payment due date for incoming students is indicated on their acceptance letter.
Payment is due by Tuesday, September 15, 2026, or two weeks before creating a course schedule – the earlier of the two.

(in the years prior to the current academic year)		• MA students with a prerequisite course requirement exceeding 8 annual hours have an additional year added to the 'standard years for degree' for purposes of calculating this surcharge only.

*Years of study for purposes of tuition and surcharge calculation include years in which a student was on leave of absence.

English studies

The fee per hour (1 annual hour) for MA students is 546 ILS in 2026-27. This payment is not included in the aggregated tuition for meeting minimum tuition requirements.

Hebrew expository writing

Master's degree students who register for a Hebrew writing skills course will be charged for the course per bachelor's degree policy shown on page 17.

Thesis completion only

Graduates of a non-thesis master's degree track enrolling at Bar-Ilan for a thesis only are charged a minimum of 100% base tuition, as follows: This program corresponds to a maximum of 5 annual hours*; any hours beyond this incur a charge at the rate of surplus annual hours.

year of study	charges	explanation
first year	minimum 50% per year	Students are charged proportionally to their enrolled course load percentage but no less than 50% base tuition for the current academic year + supplemental fees. Only fall and spring semester courses (i.e., not summer) are considered in this calculation.
second year	minimum 50% per year	Students are charged proportionally to their enrolled course load percentage but no less than 50% tuition + supplemental fees. MA prerequisite courses

Students who have been accepted to an MA program with prerequisite course requirements are charged 1,070 ILS for each annual hour in 2026-27.

Prerequisite courses taken beyond the number of allotted hours for prerequisites incur charges of 6.7% of base tuition for each annual hour.

If prerequisite courses are not defined explicitly, students are charged for them initially as regular MA annual hours; after the standard annual hours for the degree have been accumulated, tuition for the prerequisite courses are then charged at a rate of 1,070 ILS per annual hour for 2026-27 (beyond 200% tuition).

MA students with a prerequisite course requirement exceeding 8 annual hours have an additional year added to the 'standard years for degree' for purposes of calculating this surcharge only.

Prerequisite course fees are not included in the aggregated tuition for meeting minimum tuition requirements; if master's courses are also taken in parallel, only they are counted when determining the 50% minimum.

Additional MA

Students who have completed their MA degree and wish to enroll in a master's program in another field are charged no less than 50% of the cost of the additional degree. (The request will be handled after applying for graduation for the additional degree).

Two master's degrees in parallel

- Tuition is calculated for each degree as described above, each independent of the other (supplemental fees are charged only once).
- In any event, students pay no less than full tuition for the degree with the higher tuition and a minimum of 50% tuition for the additional degree.
- Supplement to 50% and prolonged studies surcharge apply to each degree separately (as per MA tuition guidelines).
- Students will not be awarded two different degrees in the same diploma period unless one of them is a teaching certificate.

Changing study programs in mid-degree

For students who change their study program in mid-degree – accumulated annual hours are recognized when calculating tuition for the new program (if the courses are recognized academically in the new program).

If the number of standard annual hours in the new program is different from that in the previous program, tuition calculation in the year of transition is based on the standard in the new program and all master's degree tuition rules apply (including rules for accumulating minimum % tuition required for the degree).

Transitioning between thesis and non-thesis tracks (in either direction)

Standard annual hours and annual hour rates in a particular study program are identical for thesis and non-thesis tracks.
Students who were on a thesis track and paid 200% and then transitioned to a non-thesis track do not incur surplus hour charges.

Additional tuition charge for the social work track for students with a degree in another field

Social work master's degree students in the track for students who hold a degree in another field, are charged an additional 34% beyond base tuition (5,607 ILS for 2026-27), for each of the three years of study (the year of prerequisite completion and the two years of degree studies). This payment is linked to the July 2026 CPI and is not included in the aggregated tuition for meeting minimum tuition requirements.
